Welcome to another edition of the Bob Cats Newsletter. It's night time in the big city. The Black Swan's in an uproar. The Devil Triangles just lost to the The Burma Indians in a fiery ice hockey match broadcasted on a wide screen on the wall. George Balatoni, the bartender, swiftly changes the tv-channel. Agitated voices soar to the soothing cinematography of lions and hyenas clashing in the Kenya savanna. Cracked actor Cornwall's hanging on to the bar in a dispute with Joe Christchurch, the carpenter, re the pros and cons of solid oak in dinner tables and veneer in kitchen cabinets in reference to the philosophical pessimism of Arthur Schopenhauer. Tiny dark husky voiced Lambert and big blond vociferous Charles are arm-wrestling to the right, Charles twice the size of his brother. George Balatoni intervenes drawing a fat lip, goes for the frozen peas in the freezer with a curse. To the far left, the ghost of the Big Guy, in the re-incarnation of Oliver Hardy in a greenish lumberjacket, watches from the wings, sipping an imaginary Ztatopramen. The Sean Braille O'Shane fan club sits by the window quibble about the whereabouts of Sean as he himself exits from the men's room disguised as a construction worker in a hardhat and sunglasses, chewing tobacco, humming ...when New York lights fade... as a crew of hyenas devour the lion king in wide screen.

FLASHES FROM THE PAST

You got a lotta nerve
To say you are my friend
When I was down
You just stood there grinning

You got a lotta nerve
To say you got a helping hand to lend
You just want to be on
The side that's winning

You say I let you down
You know it's not like that
If you're so hurt
Why then don't you show it

You say you lost your faith
But that's not where it's at
You had no faith to lose
And you know it

I know the reason
That you talk behind my back
I used to be among the crowd
You're in with

Do you take me for such a fool
To think I'd make contact
With the one who tries to hide
What he don't know to begin with

You see me on the street
You always act surprised
You say, "How are you?" "Good luck"
But you don't mean it

When you know as well as me
You'd rather see me paralyzed
Why don't you just come out once
And scream it

No, I do not feel that good
When I see the heartbreaks you embrace
If I was a master thief
Perhaps I'd rob them

And now I know you're dissatisfied
With your position and your place
Don't you understand
It's not my problem

I wish that for just one time
You could stand inside my shoes
And just for that one moment
I could be you

Yes, I wish that for just one time
You could stand inside my shoes
You'd know what a drag it is
To see you
Strap easy chair!

(Positively 4th Street)

GOOD NIGHT

They came by water, came by blood

They came by night, went for the throat

By the whip and the iron rod

Fired by hellebore in the name of the holy goat

The visions in your mind, the story of your life

The home and hearth, the husband true, the loving wife
